We wish to inform these "old maids," who have recently been contemplating matrimonial life, that we have the names and references of two worthy and hard-working gentlemen, who are willing to build the house for nothing and are anxious to "go in with them."

Rev. J. F. Shores, former pastor of the M. E. church S. of this place, has again been assigned to the Keytesville circuit. He preached his first sermon here Sunday morning and night to large and attentive congregations. His numerous friends in this vicinity are glad to welcome him in to their midst.

A certain young gentleman of Keytesville, was very anxious to go to Salisbury last Sunday morning. He made a vigorous effort to hire a buggy, but failed to find one. We regret his inability to procure a vehicle, as he has a professional appellation, and perhaps his business was of a professional nature.

John Gaston, street commissioner, has been busy engaged for some time making improvements upon our streets. The streets have been so neglected in the past, that wagoners frequently encountered difficulty in driving through town. We are glad to say to our friends of the country that they will find the streets in as good condition as can be found in any town in the county. We hope Mr. G. will persevere in the good work until he repairs every side walk in town.

We received a pleasant call from Messrs. Gallimore and Discombe, of the Salisbury Press, last Wednesday.

Wm. E. Jones, editor Frankfort Chronicle, came up Thursday, and was seen around shaking hands with his many friends here.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Thos. Dougherty, who has been dangerously ill for several days, is now somewhat improved. Hopes are entertained that she will soon be able to be about again.

Our fellow townsman Robert White, came down last Saturday morning sailing all over his face—it's another boy and weighed 10, as usual. Congratulations Bob.

Last Monday morning the attention of the whole town was attracted by the quick and frantic manner in which Capt. J. C. Wallace passed up and down our streets, smiling and bowing at every one he saw. Finally some one ventured to ask what was the matter, when the Captain, without stopping, shouted: "Oh, I'm going to Fayette to see my daughter!" It was ascertained he had just received the following by telegraph:

"Fine girl; 10 pounds; all doing well."

Here's to your health, Cap., and to your families health, and may you all live long and prosper.

Notwithstanding the hard times there is considerable improvement going on in Keytesville. A number of dwelling houses have just been built, and several remodeled and repaired. Mr. Mackay has built a fine new barn and livery stable, and many others are erecting out buildings, &c. Our citizens are also receiving a fair share of attention, sidewalks repaired, and made new.

We are glad to note this spirit of enterprise among our citizens. Keytesville is the seat of justice of one of the largest counties in the state, and the people are bound to transact their public business here. Thus the town possesses a very important advantage.

There is an immense trade that would naturally come here, the assortment of goods, and prices, being equal to other places.

Our citizens, and especially our business men, should think of this matter, and make an extra effort to secure the trade of the thrifty farmers who surround us, instead of letting them go to Salisbury or Brunswick, or send off to the large cities to get their goods by express. It is decidedly to the interest of property owners to think of these things.

We will venture to say that a half dozen dwelling houses could be rented in less than a month, were they to be had. Keytesville is a town of about 1,000 inhabitants, when with a little energy and good business, more houses and more enterprise.

From all parts of the country reports come of the immense sales and increasing demand for that deservingly popular Sewing machine, The Old Reliable "Standard," the price of which the proprietors wisely reduced to $20, including all the attachments, and at once secured for them a popularity among the people, far beyond that ever yet attained by any other machine at any price, the consequence of which is, agents are leaving the old high priced machines, and seeking territory for the "Standard."

Knowing from experience that with the best goods at the lowest price they can outsell all other machines, where the superior quality and low price is made known. This splendid machine combines all the improvements. Is far ahead of all others in beauty and durability of its work, ease of management, light running and certain of operation, is sensibly made upon principles, with positive working points all steel, and can be safely put down as the very perfection of a serviceable Sewing Machine, in every particular, that will outlast any machine, and at a price far below what any other. It is thoroughly warranted for five years. Kept in order free of charge. And sent to any part of the country for examination by the customer before payment of the bill. We can predict equally as large a demand for them in this section as in others. Families desiring the best machine manufactured should write direct to the factory. And enterprising persons wishing to seize the chance should apply for a desirable territory. See advertisement in another part of this paper. Address Standard Machine Co., Cor. Broadway and Clinton Place, New York. 27-26-28.

Dalton Facts.

Your "Boss" correspondent being out of town, the difficult duty of furnishing your readers with an article for this week has fallen upon his sub, who is duly mindful of the fact that your readers will miss the rare, pungent paragraphs of "Hedley."

The first fact that I have to notice is that the people of Dalton have determined not to stand the muddy streets they have been afflicted with for this many a year, any longer. The town trustee's have aroused from their Rip Van Winkle sleep, rubbed their eyes, voted an appropriation, and under the skillful management of our dangerous things in existence are being hauled, sidewalks mended and everything awful, so that Dalton may hold up her head with any of her sister towns in that respect at least.

Another fact is that the missionaries have struck our town, and we are to have preaching every Sunday. This we reckon a perfect God-send, for verily we stood in much need of a few drops of the drippings from the Lord's table, and in order to fix up our church, the ladies and the management of Mrs. B. and Mr. B. held a festival last week, and considering the short notice was well attended, so you see we are smartening up all around.

Our town was graced with a visit from one of Chariton's most beautiful belles, last week.

Politics is very quiet, not having any Greenbacks to discuss with, and the Reds having retired from the field, the Democrats are having a pretty easy time of it, but we are beginning to marshal our force and intend to hold a rousing mass meeting on the 14th, when we will have speeches from Chariton's best and most gifted orator, Col. C. W. Bell, and Messrs. Minter, Hammons and others. Old Bowling Green will roll up a large majority next November.

Yours truly, Joux Doovty.

G. B. Smith has lost his four remaining children, two boys and two girls, by diphtheria, making five in all. The terrible disease is going through the Phillips family, but they have lost no children yet.

Sad Event.

Thursday morning Keytesville was thrown into mourning, and a gloom cast over our community, by the announcement that Thomas Stevens had committed suicide.

For some time past Mr. Stevens has appeared to be in very depressed spirits, probably caused by declining business. It is also thought by some that during the excessive warm weather which we have just enjoyed, he was affected by heat.

Whatever may have been the cause, Mr. Stevens steadily grew worse. At times for several days past he has been entirely bedridden. About two weeks ago the family visited friends in Montgomery county, this state, with the hope of drawing his mind from his business and troubles, but the trip seemed to increase his distress, and they soon returned. Mr. Robt. Salisbury, of Kansas City, a brother to Mr. Stevens, having been a bosom friend to Mr. S. for more than twenty years, they had formed a great attachment for each other—either having an abiding confidence in the other. It was finally resolved to send for Mr. Salisbury. He arrived Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, merely spoke to the family and went upstairs to bed.

Thursday morning Mr. Stevens awoke unusually early and wished to get up, but his wife persuaded him to lie still until between five and six. The family then arose and set about their morning work. Mr. Stevens, although quite nervous went down town and got some fresh meat for breakfast. Finally Mr. Salisbury came down stairs, and as soon as Mr. Stevens saw him, he commenced relating his troubles. Mr. Salisbury told him that he had troubled himself very much over matters that could not effect him in any way, but that Mr. Stevens said he would be killed or imprisoned for his debts. He said he was sure he would be arrested before night, and remarked that he would rather die than be sent away from his home, and said that if he had strichine he would take it, but he said he tried to reason with him, but he said the conversation had proceeded much further breakfast was announced.

By this time Mr. Stevens had become very nervous, and although he went to the table and ate considerably, he was so nervous he could scarcely hold a knife in his hand. When through eating he arose from the table and went into the sitting room alone. In about one or two minutes the rest of the family, with Mr. Salisbury walked into the same room, and Mr. Stevens not being in sight, they began looking for him.

Mrs. Stevens, with her brother, Mr. Salisbury at her side, stepped to an adjoining bed-room door, and opening it discovered Mr. Stevens' body lying in a pool of blood on the floor, with life entirely extinct. Near by was a razor case lying on a trunk, and it was soon discovered that he had taken the instrument in his right hand and cut his throat twice, cut his neck nearly half an inch, severing the wind pipe and main artery, causing death instantly.

Mr. Stevens was born in Campbell county, December 16, 1829, and was therefore 48 years, 9 months, and 23 days old. When about one year old his parents moved to Montgomery county, this state, when his father died. Mr. Stevens grew up and received a fair education in Danville, the seat of justice of Montgomery county, where associated with his father-in-law, Clay Barker, he engaged in merchandising when only 19 years of age; October 4, 1855, he was married to Mrs. Margaret M. Salisbury, in Huron county, Ohio. In 1856 he built the first house erected on the site of Montgomery county, now the most important town in Montgomery county. He put a stock of goods in the house, and continued to do business there until the spring of 1861, when he and family went to California, but during the same year returned to Montgomery City, and again engaged in business. During his residence in Montgomery City he also acted as railroad agent. In 1867 he moved to Hannibal, and accepted the position of railroad agent there. In 1871 he came to Keytesville, and as our citizens all know, has been engaged in business here ever since.

Although Mr. Stevens never associated himself with any religious organization until about five years ago, when he identified himself with the Christian church, his life has ever been noted for his piety and pure moral habits. His heart and purse were ever open to the needy, and none ever went from him hungry and naked. He was universally beloved and trusted by all who knew him, and justly so, for he was truly the noblest work of God—an honest man.

He leaves a wife, and a married daughter. The friends of the family met and held religious services at Mr. Stevens' residence Friday morning, and on the same day his body was carried to Montgomery City for interment.

The Murphy Picnic last Saturday.

Arriving at the picnic grounds, the band proceeded to discourse some of their excellent music. After that the choir sang "Hold the Fort" and "Pull For the Shore," most splendidly. Mr. Eidsen then introduced Mr. Goldsby, who explained how it was that the "Bar" came to be along, and to prevent the ladies becoming excited in formed them that there were many more dangerous things in existence than the bar, one of them, temperance, and continued to speak for an hour to the intelligent crowd assembled. Many more would have been out to the picnic had not the weather been so gloomy in the early part of the morning.

Among the prominent at the picnic were our old friend Jack Dowdy and Dan Nichols. Uncle Jack wanted some "bull onions," Dan wanted dinner.

Mrs. Cora Mann lead in the singing, and by her excellent singing caused all Muscle Fork township to smile.

Mal was unfortunate, he was "busted." O my! Mal waltzed around among the boys wanting to borrow a half dollar, he failed to get it, but there's no saying the other boys were "busted."

Messrs. Singleton, Clarkson and others favored the temperance cause in brief arguments.

At 1 o'clock dinner was announced, and the good people of Muscle Fork township satisfied the appetite of every hungry individual.

The boys of the band, at least nearly all of them, were partakers of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Willcutt.

After dinner Mr. Goldsby made another short address, and wound up by telling something about a woman who gave her last garment for seven cents worth of whiskey. (Applaud.)

Charley White couldn't go to the picnic. He said "Boys, Bob's got about nine pounds of young America at home, and I guess it will be impossible." Charley's little girl was on hand, and of course had a "candy-grinder."

One of the members of the band, the one who didn't want to go to the picnic, was so "jollified" after getting there that he could scarcely find stamping ground. The eloquence of Mr. Goldsby, the heart-scattering prayer of Mr. Clarkson, and the good humor in which the boys found "Uncle Peter," all served to reconcile Will.

The boys did not render as much music as they intended, owing to the fact that it very much annoyed Dr. Holland. Sorry we had to play at all, Dr. but it "was in our business to do it."

Frank Carmon was unfortunate enough to get a "bear chip" in his eye while on the road, and, suffering from it, he howled awfully "snaky." Frank was could not wag your foot without Frank a "ing" "Want you to stop now?" Yours, SKEE.

State Democratic Platform

The Democratic party of the state of Missouri, in convention assembled, declares its confidence in and unshaken adherence to the great principles of Democratic representative government, its devotion to national Union and constitution, with the amendments thereto, its unswerving maintenance to the following principles, namely:

First—We regard the national banking system as oppressive and burdensome, and demand its abolition and the retirement from circulation of national bank notes and the issue of legal tender notes in lieu thereof, and quantities from time to time sufficient to supply wholesome money necessary for the business demands of the entire country, and all greenbacks so issued shall be used in the purchase and retirement of U. S. bonds, so that the interest debt of the country may be lessened to the extent of the greenbacks thus put in circulation. Legal tender notes, commonly called greenbacks, should be made legal tender in the payment of all debts, public and private, except such obligations as are, in the terms of the original contract, expressly made payable in coin.

Fourth—That the right to coin money and regulate the value thereof can be exercised under constitution alone and that possession of the power imparts the duty of its exercise to extend to all gold and silver bullion offered for coinage at mints in the United States, and we regard the limitations and restrictions imposed by Congress upon the coinage of silver as unjust and oppressive and should at once be removed.

Fifth—That a return to specie payments is impossible in the present financial condition of the country and we demand the immediate and unconditional repeal of the act of Congress, January 1, 1875, known as the resumption act, holding the same to be unwise and ruinous to the interest of the people.

Sixth—The policy inaugurated and maintained by the Republican party of contracting the active circulating medium of the country, constituting, as all admit it does, the standard of value of property and products of the country, and regulating, as well, the prices paid for all labor, stands pre-eminent in a long list of its oppressive measures, as the most oppressive, unchristian and oppressive of them all. Being opposed to all monopolies, and all laws discriminating in favor of one class of our people at the expense of and to the prejudice of all others, we declare an unqualified hostility to all protective tariffs, and demand that there shall be a tariff for revenue only.

Seventh—The Democratic party, lenders to the debtor and the laboring classes of the country its warmest sympathy, and pledges itself at the earliest moment to reverse the cruel and destructive policy of the Repub-lean party, which brought ruin upon them. We demand that all new legislation shall be so enacted, and administered as to secure to each man as practicable the just reward of his own labor.

POLITICAL.

The largest political gathering that has assembled in Keytesville this season was held at the court house on last Wednesday night. A grand torch-light procession was formed on Main street, composed of the members of Democratic clubs in Keytesville and adjoining townships, and after marching through the principal streets of the town, led by the Keytesville brass band, they repaired to the court house to listen to the speeches of Hon. C. H. Mansur and J. L. Davis.

The large circuit court room was crowded to its utmost by persons from all parts of the county, who had come to listen to the orators announced for the occasion.

Cal. Mansur spoke first, he was introduced to the audience by J. C. Crawley, and after a short and pleasant allusion to the position which he and his friend Crawley occupied in regard to the present congressional contest in this district, Col. Mansur devoted about one hour's time in an eloquent and stirring appeal to the Democracy to stand firmly by the old party and its nominees. The importance of such action was ably and aptly illustrated in many ways, blended with amusing anecdotes as well as able and convincing arguments.

Hon. J. L. Davis, of Gallatin, Mo., followed Col. Mansur in a speech of over an hour, taking up the money question and reviewing it in a masterly manner. Mr. Davis drops off many of the old bullion ideas and deals with the subject in the light and view of the emergencies which have to be met. He showed himself to be thoroughly conversant with this great question and his speech was highly complimented for its original cast of thought and power of argument.

We would be glad to review both of the speeches made at length but we are unable for want of time to do so at present. Suffice it to say the meeting was a grand success.
